The Art of Leadership

Student Leadership

CREATE by sketching ideas in each of the yellow Student Leadership Notes below. Reflect on a time when you thought about or noticed the skill described on each note. How did this behavior influence decisions, collaborative efforts, or solutions? Notice that leaders do not possess just one perfect leadership quality. Every leader radiates a unique combination of skills.

RESPOND to this question: How are mindsets and habits of artists similar to leadership skills? Use lines, shapes, and colors to show the similarities on your sketch notes.

PRESENT your sketch notes and tell the stories about the situations. Compare the examples in your presentation with those of others.

CONNECT the visionary mindset and skills that emerging leaders need to develop with the reasons why arts in education is essential. What does this suggest for school and beyond-school learning?

Radiate passion for a cause

Envision something that does not yet exist

Listen to and include many voices

Communicate in compelling ways

Embrace change with a flexible mindset

What else?

Be intrinsically motivated and inspire others
