

CHIEN-SHIUNG WU

Known as the First Lady of Physics, Chien-Shiung Wu (May 31, 1912 – February 16, 1997) was a Chinese-American scientist known for her work in nuclear physics, in particular her contributions to the Manhattan Project. She was awarded the Wolfe Prize in Physics in 1978.

