

A black and white line drawing of a desert landscape. In the background, there are several cacti of different shapes and sizes, some with spines. A large banner curves across the middle of the scene. In the foreground, a scorpion is shown in profile, facing right. The scorpion's body is segmented and has a heart shape on its back. Its pincers are raised, and it has several legs. The overall style is simple and cartoonish, suitable for a coloring page.
