CREATE a poster that shows your thoughts about liberation and freedom. How could words and symbols be used to express the emotions and events in your art? What scenes comes to mind and what experiences do you visualize? Sketch a draft of your art here. Consider how this art could be shared broadly, perhaps as a poster, a mural on a community building, a social media post, or a postcard sent to others to help them understand your point of view.

DRAW YOUR DRAFT SKETCH HERE.

PRESENT your artwork. Describe to a family member or friend the realities revealed in your research about people who do not have a full range of liberties and freedoms today and what the implications are for them and others around the world. Ask them to describe other situations they are aware of from history or current events and to share those stories as well as their personal experiences.

RESPOND to each other's stories. Discuss the importance of liberation and freedom and what we can do to ensure that it is available for all people.
