

Exploring Personal Identity Through Stories

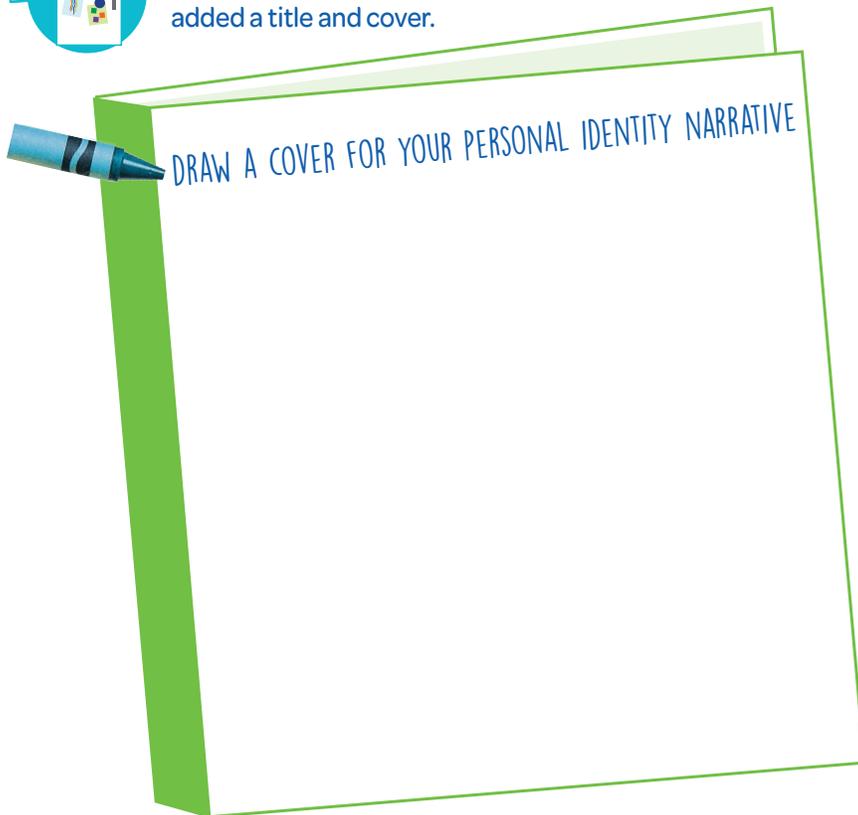

WRITING ART-INSPIRED STORIES™

CREATE an illustrated story that tells who you are, where you come from, what traditions are important to you, and something that you'd like others to remember about you.

PRESENT your story after you've added a title and cover.

RESPOND to others' stories and look for patterns and common ground.

CONNECT writing your personal identity narratives with helping children become authors who have voices and choices in developing their stories.
